BASIC-ABSTRACT:

The method of commerce involves causing the participating merchants to provide a rebate/discount to participating purchasers, and enabling the participating merchants to facilitate passage of the purchaser's funds to a charity or similar organisation. Upon each or selected transactions between the participating merchants and participating purchasers, participating purchaser's funds to the value of the provided rebate/discount are passed to the charity as

a donation from the participating purchaser.

The transactions are conducted through an electronic funds transfer network which is able to operatively access the necessary account records of the participating merchants, the participating purchaser's, a participating charity and determine the amount of rebate/discount provided by each participating merchant. The funds are donated to charity so that the donations constitute tax deductible donations for the purchasers.

ADVANTAGE - Effective in use.
